THE ORDER HOLDS.

A Capitol Avenue Resort to Be Suppressed.

A great deal has been whispered around in regard to Nell King being allowed to conduct a bawdy house in the heart of Omaha after an order from the mayor to suppress her place had been issued. The original complaint was made by Mr. Wiley, then of the waterworks company. Mayor Broatch issued an order to Chief Seavey to suppress the place, out to give Miss King a reasonable time to vacate. The chief, considering thirty days a reasonable time and notified the woman accordingly. She and her friends set about to squelch the order. All sorts of promises and threats were made to Mayor Broatch. He was begged to rescind the order. One business man said: "I have 'squared' both The Bee and Republican and they will not report you if you revoke the order." Heavy pressure was brought to bear to influence Mayor Broatch, but his order stands as it was originally. "Suppress the house, but give the woman reasonable time to vacate."

A Bee reporter called on Mayor Broatch and asked for a statement. "The woman must go," said the mayor. "I have issued the order, and it shall stand just as it now is. It is true that a number of business men have come to me and pleaded hard in her behalf, but I shall stand by the order. I gave the woman thirty days in which to vacate. If he sees fit he can extend the time a few weeks, but no longer."

"A business man has given it out that everything has been fixed for her to remain until such a time as she can build and move. You know anything about that?" asked the reporter.

"I do not. The report is untrue. As I said before, men have been to me, but they got no satisfaction."

Chief Seavey was interviewed and said: "Nell King is human, the same as any other person. I am told by business men that by suppressing her place in thirty days I will do her a great injustice. In case I find this to be true, I shall extend the time thirty days. Otherwise she must shut up the place as a public resort by the 26th of this month."

"Then you will not allow her to remain long enough to build?"

The woman was seen to-day and asked: "When do you propose to vacate your house?"

"I have been notified to leave by the 26th."

"Are you going at that time?"

"No, I shall remain here, but the house will be closed. My friends have endeavored to induce Mayor Broatch to rescind his order. I saw the mayor in person yesterday, but he refused to talk about the matter."

The chancel was a bower of beauty, with pots of blooming flowers. In front of the rail was an arch of evergreens and golden rods. From the apex hung a horseshoe of white lilies.

Mr. Charles R. Wilson acted as best man and Miss Minnie Coghlin as bridesmaid. At 7:30 p. m. the bridal party marched up the central aisle to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march. They were met at the altar by Rev. James Haynes, uncle of the bride, who made the twain one.

Fat Show.

The movement for a fat stock show in Omaha is taking shape, and if the people feel interested and respond to the demands made upon them, the attraction is assured.

The Coliseum and the south Omaha Stock yards associations have taken hold of the enterprise and are pushing it in a business-like manner. Manager John S. Prince for the one, and Manager W. N. Hancock for the other, are at work on preliminary arrangements.

It is proposed to hold the show in the Coliseum, where stalls may be arranged for the accommodation of 145 animals, provided only cattle and horses are admitted; but as hogs and sheep are to be entered, and inasmuch as half a dozen of these can be put into one pen or stall, it will be an easy matter to accommodate three or four hundred.

There will also be plenty of room for dairy exhibits, poultry and a fancy dog kennel. It is proposed to secure subscriptions sufficiently large to offer good premiums, and thus induce the patronage of stockmen and breeders from all parts of the country to take an interest in the exhibition.

The Coliseum show is to be held during the first two weeks in October, this one will come immediately after and take up the last two weeks of that month.
